

alongside state-of-the-art functional and genetic test results to uncover what's really going on. Based on all this data, we create ultra-personalized health programmes incorporating therapeutic supplements, diet and lifestyle change and stress-management techniques.

The results we see never cease to amaze me and I am humbled every time we receive feedback like this:

I've got so much more energy. My depressive feelings and brain fog have significantly reduced. I'm sleeping better and doing more exercise, which I really enjoy. My mood is overall more positive and I feel excited for the future. Thank you, Rachel. (Becky)

My mood has lifted, and I am able to focus again at work. I feel less bloated and my IBS symptoms have significantly improved. But by far the biggest win for me is the improvement in my overall energy levels. I am able to get up in the morning and feel energised. Working with Rachel was the best thing I ever did. (Abbie)

I love what I do. I'm finally channelling all that energy and brain power into something I care deeply about. However, it wasn't long before I realized that I wanted to do more. I wanted to help more women like Becky and Abbie to step off the emotional rollercoaster of burnout; to wake up feeling energized and thinking clearly; to give them back their mood mojo and enable them to fulfil their career (and life) potential.

That was when I decided to write this book. Although a book can never replicate the clinic experience, it is my hope that in sharing my knowledge of burnout, its root causes and how it can be managed naturally, I can help women